

Supporting your pupils to reach their full potential

Executive Summary
for Independent Schools

Understanding the current pressures on Independent Schools

SHAPING

Independent schools are experiencing unprecedented pressures:

- Rising numbers of pupils with SEND and complex needs requiring specialist support
- Stretched pastoral teams managing increased wellbeing concerns and disengagement
- Staff workload at critical levels while maintaining academic excellence
- Parents and governors expecting measurable outcomes and strong destination statistics
- Financial scrutiny requiring demonstrable ROI on all external provision

A targeted approach:

AA Educates offers two targeted 12-week programmes designed specifically for independent schools, delivered by experienced education professionals, which reduce staff workload while improving pupil outcomes.

Programme 1: SEND – Adapted Skills Programme

For pupils with autism, ADHD, social, emotional, and mental health (SEMH) needs, and other additional learning requirements.

What we deliver:

- Small group delivery (8-12 pupils) with multi-modal, scaffolded instruction
- Essential life skills: communication, self-regulation, resilience, teamwork
- Sensory-aware delivery, personalised support and 1:1 mentoring
- Career exploration adapted to individual learning profiles

Measurable outcomes:

- Improved communication and social skills
- Enhanced emotional regulation and confidence
- Greater independence and self-advocacy
- Evidence for ISI standards on pupil development (SMSC)

Programme 2:

Thrive – Re-Engagement Programme

Designed for pupils who are disengaged, underperforming, or facing social and emotional challenges, providing targeted support to rebuild confidence.

What we deliver:

- Small group delivery (8-12 pupils) ensuring personalised support
- Motivational approach focused on relevance and personal meaning
- Pupil-led projects linking learning to individual interests
- Agency-building restoring belief and motivation
- Gradual skill development without overwhelming pupils
- Real-world connections including workplace exposure

Measurable outcomes:

- Increased school engagement and attendance
- Restored learner identity and motivation
- Improved wellbeing and social connection
- Reduced pastoral incidents and staff intervention time

Why AA Educates?

It's time to view education differently.

“ It is very encouraging to be a part of this flourishing partnership which has at its heart the development of all the students. ”

Mr. Peter Goodyer
Headteacher, Bede's

AA Educates works alongside schools to deliver specialist, off-timetable programmes that improve pupil outcomes while easing pressure on pastoral and teaching staff.

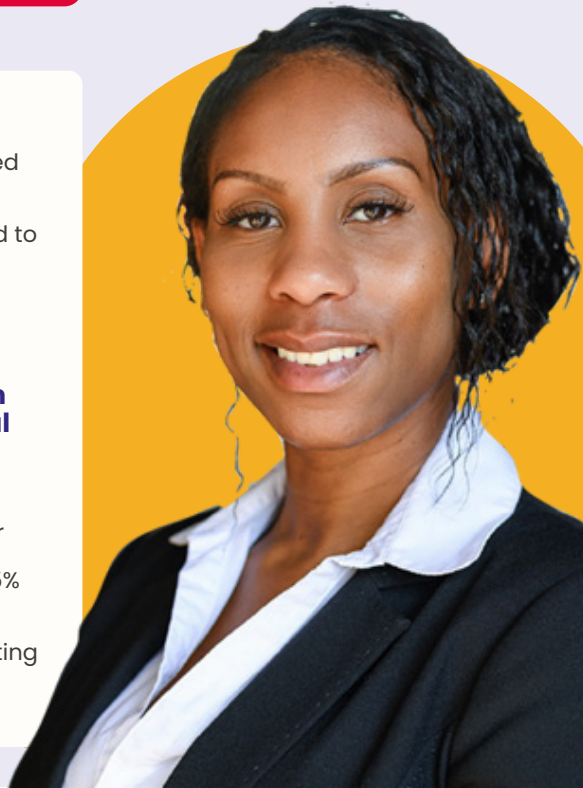

Featured on the BBC's The One Show

Our work has been featured on BBC's The One Show and recognised by the Peter Jones Foundation, reflecting both impact and quality.

Our model combines evidence-based practice with measurable impact, aligned to inspection and governance expectations.

Trusted organisation with national recognition

We have supported over 3,000 young people, with 85% demonstrating improved skills and 80% reporting increased confidence.

Designed to reduce staff workload, not add to it

Our experienced external facilitators take full responsibility for programme delivery, enabling pastoral teams to focus on complex cases while maintaining high standards of care and provision.

“ I believe in a world where inequalities no longer exist. It is imperative that we provide more opportunities to underserved communities, allowing them to thrive. ”

Andrine Allen, Founder
